Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Ask yourself, what part do numbers play in your life? I have learned that numbers are an indelible part of all our lives. Another half-step further reveals yet more numbers: the speed limit, prices, floor number, start time at work, employee number, etc, etc. By now, you get the point that everything we experience with our five senses can be expressed and represented by numbers. You will discover once you delve deeper into what numbers mean, as I did, that they have a language all their own. Just as your parents that created you gave you a name, this language that the universe speaks gave you a number and it is around you...
